Height Variance Needed For 1879 Hall Addition Planned by University

Princeton University is seeking site plan approval and a height variance from the Planning Board to build a three-story addition to its 1879 Hall on Washington Road. The application, scheduled to be heard last week but delayed by the lengthy discussion on Route 92, was postponed to Thursday, July

The 15,470-foot building will house the Center for Human Values, which was initiated a year ago by a $21 million grant to the University from philanthropist Laurence S. Rockefeller, a graduate of the Class of 1932 and an emeritus trustee. The center will be a part of the Department of Philosophy and is expected to interact with the Religion Department, both of which are located in 1879 Hall, among other departments nearby.

This application has already considerable generated discussion on the part of the Site Plan Review Advisory Board (SPRAB) and among some members of the Planning Board who have met with University officials to try to resolve the issues. At issue are the size and location of the addition, which will require removal of several large trees between McCosh Walk and the existing 1879 Hall, and the degree to which the addition impinges on McCosh Walk and Washington Road.

The addition is proposed to be located across Washington Road from the Woodrow Wilson School, between Washington Road and the School of Architecture. Attached to 1879 Hall on its northwest side, it would be approximately 100 feet long and from 30 to 55 feet wide.

The building will be constructed of brick similar to the existing 1879 Hall, with limestone detailing around the windows and doors and along Continued on Page 17

"Red" Glover Retires As Building Inspector

One of Princeton Borough's most colorful and controversial employees has retired after 32 years of service. Bernard "Red" Glover, who joined the Borough July 1, 1959, as superintendent of buildings and grounds, has left after going on sick leave in January. It is understood that he remains quite ill.

As construction code official and building and fire protection inspector, Mr. Glover succeeded in bringing many applicants for building permits and certificates of occupancy to the edge of their tether. But his colleagues agreed that he was "tough, but fair."

Peggy Perone, the Engineering Department secretary, said she sometimes wanted to hide under her desk when irate applicants came in to the office and Mr. Glover responded to them by saying, "I could Continued on Next Page

Planning Board Switches Endorsement of S-92 Bypass Under Pressure from Residents of Princeton, Montgomery

Under pressure from affected residents of both Princeton and Montgomery, the Planning Board last week rescinded its earlier endorsement of a plan to reinstate the Princeton Bypass section of Route 92 as a two-lane roadway along the Princeton-Montgomery border. Instead, the Planning Board adopted a resolution "strongly" supporting a modified Scheme 6 alignment west of the Millstone River. The Scheme 6 alignment, which goes north of the Montgomery Woods development, had been selected by the New Jersey Department of Transportation in November, 1988 as the preferred of five alignments along the border as a result of its final Environmental Impact Study.

In April, the DOT announced that "unresolvable environmental issues, such as extensive wetlands, park lands and hazardous waste sites, will prevent the Department from completing the Princeton Bypass along the current alignment," which was Scheme 6. Other portions of Route 92, namely the Hightstown Bypass and the portion east of Route 1 to exit 8A of the New Jersey Turnpike were being 'advanced.'

The mayors of eight municipalities asked for a meeting with the DOT to see what could be salvaged of the link connecting Route 27 to Route 206 they believed is essential to relieve traffic congestion. They were told that if they could develop an alternative by July 15, the DOT would consider it. In meetings facilitated by MSM executive director Diane Brake, eight mayors developed a concept plan for a two-lane "regional" road with connections to key local roads that was acceptable to all eight municipalities. The proposal became known as the MSM alternative.

No sooner was this alternative announced than residents of the Herrontown Road area, who had lobbied hard for Scheme 6, raised an outcry. Organizing petitions and rallying residents of the Montgomery Woods townhouse development which would abut the proposed alignment, they jammed the Planning Board meeting and also the Township Committee meeting on Monday to voice their opposi-

Some 100 people attended each of these meetings on two very hot nights, spilling over into the hallway of the unairconditioned building. About 25 people spoke at the Plan-

Transfer of Teacher Is Reconsidered ... But Not Soon Enough

Events sped quickly after Princeton High School mathematics teacher Arlene Greenberg was told by the School Board on June 18 that she had no choice but to accept a transfer to John Witherspoon Middle School, a transfer she did not wish to make. They did not move fast enough, however, to forestall Mrs. Greenberg's decision to move to San Francisco with her husband, Roland, who has taken a position with Glyco-

About a week ago, Mrs. Greenberg was told by Superintendent of Schools Carol Choye that she could teach at the high school two thirds of the time and at the middle school one third. Had this option been offered her earlier, Mrs. Greenberg said, she would have gladly accepted it and would have remained in Princeton at least two more years.

here at least two years," said Mrs. Greenberg, who has left for California. "My children are still in college and graduate school in the east." By leaving, she also had to resign from her position with Princeton University as a consultant in high school math teaching. On June 18, Board President Joel Cooper said that, because there was a reduction in force if their permit was ready, he (rif) in the math department, he was advised by Board Attorney Les Aron that the law required that the teacher with the least seniority must go. This teacher, he said, was Mrs. Greenberg. "We have no legal choice but to make this choice," he told the numerous students and parents who had come to the meeting to urge that Mrs. Greenberg be allow-ed to continue to teach at the high school.

In the interim, it appears that another legal option was dis-covered. Bonnie Gendaszek, a part-time math teacher at the high school, has less seniority than Mrs. Greenberg. She could, according to this option, transfer on the same part-time basis to the middle school while Mrs. Greenberg taught part-time at both the middle and high school.

Although she aeknowledged that she had offered Mrs. Greenberg the high school/ middle school assignment, Dr. Choye nonetheless said that the question of whether a part-time teacher's seniority could be counted in a rif was still being researched.

"The problem is that Princeton schools have not been in a rif situation," said School Board Member Corinne Kyle. "We have been expanding. This is a kind of new legal situation, and from what I understand kind of an esoteric field of law. I understand there is now a somewhat different interpretation of the law, and this is new to me."

The Board is expected to act on Mrs. Greenberg's request for a one-year unpaid leave of absence at its meeting Tuesday night.

Former Borough Engineer George Olexa, now assistant director of physical planning at Princeton University, said he would often mediate on these occasions. "After being threatened with a $500-a-day fine, it was easy for me to be a mediator. I just told the applicant to do it right.'

The Borough, in fact, rarely brought anyone to court - a necesary first step to an imposition of a fine. So the possibility of such punishment was extremely remote.

Mr. Glover used several other phrases that are etched into the memories of his colleagues. "Do you want me to break the law?" he would thunder at someone he felt was in any way trying to cheat the Borough. When people would call to see was often heard to respond, "Well I can't be reviewing your plans while I'm sitting here on the telephone with you."

"He irritated people, I think because of his argumentative manner," said Mr. Olexa. "But people would have to admit that when he insisted on something, he knew his job and cared. Even though he made you angry, he was genuinely concerned about the point he was trying to make. He was interest distance in the content of the co just not diplomatic.

Borough Administrative Assistant Teresa Cupples recalls the morning a contractor, who had just begun siding a house in the Borougli, looked up and saw Mr. Glover running up the driveway shouting, "Stop that work." He was right, said Mrs. Cupples. The house wasn't grounded. "Red knew his business. He just had a short fuse.'

"He Is Missed"

"He is missed. He was hard on people but he was fair," said Borough Building Subcode Official Martin Vogt, who worked for many years with Mr. Glover. "He enforced the code equally for everyone, for everyone's benefit. And he enjoyed his job."

Mr. Vogt gives Mr. Glover credit for the generally good condition of buildings in the Borough. "He kept after property owners. Where many towns have gone down, Princeton has stayed okay."

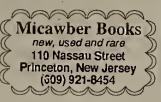

Was Mr. Glover perhaps overly vigorous in enforcing building codes, Mr. Vogt was asked. "When you have to spend money on things you can't see you think he was very vigorous," he responded. "But if it's your neighbor's house, code enforcement can't be vigorous enough. You'll even call on the Borough to help.

Many of his colleagues mentioned Mr. Glover's commitment to the community. A graduate of Princeton High School, he was a long-time volunteer fireman and was active in the Lion's Club and in Post 76 of the American Legion. He also ran the football scoreboard at Palmer Stadium for more than a decade.

"He always found time for community service," said Mr. Olexa. "It was very much to his credit."

Borough Engineer Carl Peters has been named construction code official, replacing Mr. Glover. This is largely a supervisory position. A search is now under way for a person to take over Mr. Glover's job as building and fire protection inspector.

Majority of Respondents to Township Survey Feel It's Important to Control Deer Population

A survey of Township resi- a parking fee to the Borough to "all of the above" was favored dents on several key issues fac-ing the municipality indicates that 55.4 percent of the respondents feel that it is "extremely important" for the Township to control the deer population.

Another 22.3 percent said it was "very important," while 14.2 percent ranked deer control as "somewhat important." Eight percent ranked deer control as not very important or not important at all.

The deer problem was the first of four questions on a survey mailed with the Town-than 40 percent chose not to ship homes in mid-May. The survey also asked residents to respond to questions regarding the expansion of the Public Library and the acquisition of open space. Three hundred four respondents, or 50.9 percent, said the Library should relocate to the Princeton Shopping Center. However, 128 respondents, or 21.4 percent, did not rank any solution, leaving the space blank. The other alternatives listed were for the Library to remain at its present location and size; to expand at its present location without benefit of additional parking; or to expand at its present location, and a new parking garage be built. Respondents were evenly divided at 15, 13 and 16 percent for these options.

Residents were also asked to indicate whether they have encountered difficulties or delays in finding parking when they want to use the library. Nearly 33 percent said they "regularly" encountered delays, 31 per-cent said "occasionally," while 17 percent indicated "seldom" and 10 percent said "never."

The survey included space for comments on each of the three issues. The comments in regard to the Library ranged from suggestions that people should visit the Library during non-peak hours and be willing to walk a few blocks to a feeling that the Central Business District in general is too crowded to visit, and resentment that Township residents have to pay of the New Jersey Department of Transportation on Tuesday. Their purpose: to persuade the DOT to change its four-lane "desirable typical section" designations for Route 206 (Bayard Lane/Stockton Street) and Route 27 (Princeton-Kingston Road) to two-lane designations. The hearing is one of four that the DOT is holding regarding its proposed State Highway Access Management Code.

This code regulates the number and frequency of driveways onto state highways and has been the subject of controversy among developers and owners of commercial property along the 1,800 miles of the state highways. But it also includes in an appendix descriptions of cross-sections of these highways which the DOT believes are necessary to accommodate the traffic they are car-

The DTS for Route 27, the other state highway that traverses Princeton, is category 4F, which is identical to 4C, except for the addition of a 14-foot lane in the center for left turns. The right-of-way width would be 116

Currently, Routes 27 and 206 within the Township have two 12-foot travel lanes and 4- to 8foot shoulders. Existing rightof-way widths are 66 feet for Route 27 and the southern section of Route 206 between Lovers Lane and Lawrence Township. The northern section of Route 206 in the Township, between Leigh Avenue and Cherry Valley Road, generally carries a 33-foot right-of-way, according to Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser.

In preparation for Tuesday's hearing at the DOT headquar-Township Committee unanimously approved a resolution on Monday night calling for Route 206 in the Township to be designated as two-lane in the State Highway Access Code using a 2D desirable typical section. The resolution also calls for Route 27 in the Township to be similarly designated "and to be retained as two lanes.'

2D Only for Local Roads

Mr. Kiser told Committee on Monday night that he was not optimistic that the NJDOT will accept the 2D designation because it is not proposed for use anywhere else in the state on a state highway and was ap-parently intended to be used onfor local roads.

He told Committee that the Highway Management Access code calls for all 36 miles of Route 27 from Princeton to Rahway to be four lanes, and that the entire length of Route 206 - 139 miles from Hammonton to Montague - are designated four lanes, with the exception of a four-mile segment through Newton to preserve its town square.

The coach, Chet Dalgewicz, who served as an assistant wrestling coach to the Tigers for 22 years, has charged the University with alleged unlawful discharge. The suit, filed by his attorney Melvin Narol, who has specialized in cases involving sports figures, also alleges discrimination in the dismissal concerning age (Dalgewicz was 45 when dismissed) and a back injury which Dalgewicz sustained 16 years ago in a practice session with the team.

During his coaching tenure, Dalgewicz also served as director of the University's in-tramural program, ahtletic promotions and recreational facilities. Two of those positions, Mr. Narol reports, are now full-

According to Mr. Narol, during the past year, Dalgewicz, who is also a well-known high school and college wrestling referee, has tried, unsuccessfully, to secure a job in coaching or administration.

The suit further underscores Dalgewicz's role in the successful Tiger wrestling program. He helped to guide Princeton, the suit states, to 21 winning seasons in 22 years, 10 Ivy League titles, one Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association crown and a number of NCAA and EIWA Individual champions.

Dalgewicz was responsible for much of the recruiting for those teams. The suit also states that Dalgewicz in his Los Angeles Assistant Di capacity was an effective "am-bassador" to the sport and to the University.

Engagement Ring Caper; Is It Robbery or a Hoax?

In investigating the theft of a $5,000 diamond engagement ring, Township police may be investigating something that never happened.

"Police believe it is a hoax," commented Lt. Mario Musso this week. "This is a fabricated story; it never happened. Nobody saw anything."

Still, police can't be positively sure. The incident is still under investigation, Lt. Musso said. Charges are pending the completion of that investigation.

Lt. Musso gave this account. At 12:45 on the afternoon of June 29, Township police received a call from a victim reporting a robbery had taken place in front of a Chemical Bank branch office in the Township. Ptl. Gary L. Conover responded.

The officer was met by the boyfriend of the victim, a 23-year-old resident of Morgan-ville. The victim told the officer that she and her boyfriend had had an argument and they had stopped in front of the bank where she exited the car.

A suspect, described as a muscular white male wearing a T-shirt and green shorts, appeared, came up to her, she said, noticed her ring and asked her for it. She removed her 1.25 carat ring and handed it over. Her boyfriend, she said, had seen what had happened and had chased after the suspect who fled west on foot down Cherry Valley Road. She told Ptl. Conover that she thought she first saw the suspect throw the ring into some bushes in front of the bank.

Ptl. Conover drove the boyfriend around, attempting to locate the suspect. Police alerted surrounding police departments in the Borough, and Montgomery and Hopewell Townships. A canine unit was called to the scene, Lt. Musso said, and the dog was able to follow the scent for a while but became overheated and could not continue.

Ptl. Conover returned to the scene and interviewed two employees in offices that shared the same building as the bank. They told the officer they had seen a couple looking in the bushes which was a little unusual for that time of day. The couple told them they had had an argument; they were looking for her engagement ring which she had thrown into the bushes. "They didn't mention anything about a robbery," the witnesses told police.

"Based on the two witnesses we feel that a robbery did not take place," Lt. Musso said. Police declined to reveal the

Several Grants Received By Princeton University

Princeton University has received a grant of $150,000 from the Marc Haas and Helen Hotze Haas Foundation to establish an endowed fellowship fund in the field of art and archaeology.

The fund, which is to be known as the Marc Haas '29 Memorial Fellowship Fund, will be used to provide fellowship support for graduate students in Princeton Univer-sity's Department of Art and Archaeology. Preference will be given to students studying Chinese art or Chinese and Japanese art and archaeology. The fund was set up with the help of Princeton University trustee emeritus Charles O. Scribner Jr. of the Class of 1943.

Princeton University has also received two challenge grants totalling $550,000 from the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation. A $300,000 grant will be awarded to the Council on Regional Studies over a three-year period. A separate $250,000 grant will be used to endow a discretionary trust fund for the Center for Energy and Environmental Studies. Challenge grants require the University to match the foundation's support of the designated area.

The Council on Regional Studies supports special programs for those undergraduate and graduate students interested in international relations and the regions and cultures of the world. Such funding goes to the social sciences and humanities, and to interdepartmental programs on Africa, East Asia, Europe, Latin America, the Near East, and the Soviet Union.

ESOL for Youth

For a number of years the Princeton YWCA has been offering a series of wellattended English as a Second Language courses for adults of all ages. "But what about our children?" students kept asking. Middle-schoolers and teen-agers especially need to become fluent in their new language to keep up their school studies and feel part of the scene. Younger children want to join in and feel like everyone else in their neighborhoods or playgrounds.

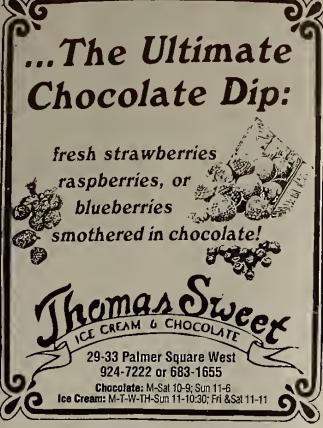

This summer the YWCA is offering classes for children ages 9 through 15 on Fridays from 10 until noon. The cost for six sessions is $35. The YWCA can also arrange off-site instruction and special tutorials by request. "We're doing things a little differently," said Carlo Momo, who at 32 is the older of the two brothers. "The food and at-mosphere at Teresa's should remind you of a sidewalk cafe you might stumble upon in Rome or Florence. Many of our recipes come from my mother, Teresa, who was born and raised in Italy.'

Teresa's menu includes a selection of pizzettas, a varie-cappucino and homemade Italian pastries.

Teresa's Pizzetta Caffe has five sister restaurants, in- average of 15,000 a year. Mr. cluding Teresa's Pizza Colore, Lee expects that figure to doua take-out and delivery business on Nassau Street. ## Princeton Housing Authority's Karin Slaby Is Retiring After 28 Years as Its Director

For the past 28 years, Ewing Street resident Karin Slaby has directed the Princeton Housing Authority, the agency in charge of the Borough's and Township's public housing. Now, having been successful in overseeing the lengthy and complicated process of finding a site for 20 units of low-income Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) housing, she has announced her retirement.

Mrs. Slaby started on a parttime basis in 1963, after her daughter entered first grade. "It was a good time to go back to work." She and her husband Steven also have a son and two grandchildren.

Born in Norway, Mrs. Slaby came to the United States as a child. She grew up in Rosedale, Queens, spent some time in Texas with her husband, who was in the service, and then moved to Princeton in 1952.

The Princeton Housing Authority, established in 1938, is one of the oldest in the nation. When Mrs. Slaby began in 1963, the Authority managed Hege-man Homes, 50 units on Clay Street, and Franklin and Maple Terrace, ten units each, both on Franklin Avenue, and both built by Gerard Lambert.

Mr. Lambert, the highly successful businessman and advertising innovator who lived at Albemarle (now the American Boychoir School), had developed an interest in public housing. In the middle of the Depression, he used his own funds to build Franklin Terrace, with the help of architect Alexander Morgan. Later, after World War II, he built Maple Terrace.

"He thought he could show how low-income housing could be built privately," said Mrs. Slaby. The houses were later sold to the Housing Authority, and remain the only non-HUD units in the program.

In his biography, All Out of Step, Mr. Lambert wrote, to 30 p. ....Tommy Cochran, Ben come. Cohen and Secretary Morgenthau [close associates of President Franklin Roosevelt] came to see my units in Princeton. Tommy and Ben had dinner at Albemarle and Tommy played the piano after dinner. Mr. Morgenthau telephoned me from the airport, congratulating me on the achievement."

the red slate roof. The facility would include 25 academic offices and three seminar rooms in a tower on the north end by McCosh Walk. The peak of the tower roof is intended to align with the cornice of McCosh Hall, creating a focal point framing McCosh Walk.

The concerns of SPRAB and Planning Board officials are reflected in Planning Director Eileen F. Banyra's report to the board on the application.

Ms. Banyra notes that a huge beech tree, two big maples, and a dogwood will have to be removed, and that an even bigger tulip poplar tree, though not scheduled for removal, could be impacted.

She calls attention to spatial relationships between the proposed building and its neighbors. She points out that the ridgeline elevation in the office portion of the proposed addition is 11 feet higher than the ridgeline of the main roof of 1879 Hall, and that the tower ridgeline is 25 feet higher than the existing 1879 Hall. The height of the tower is 60 feet, which, she notes, "begins to ap-proach" McCosh Hall in height at 70 feet.

Setbacks are another concern, particularly because the variance requested has to do with the relationship between the height of the proposed addition and the setback of the building from the public road. The ordinance requires that the front yard setback requirement be a minimum of 25 feet and no portion of the building shall be week. After learning that the University had been invited to discuss "a major issue" that was raised in the report and not raised in concept review, Ms. McKenzie said she objected to a few members "conducting the work of the board out of sight of the public." She said it was in effect "continuing" the concept review without the public being present, as stipulated in the "sunshine" law that requires notices of meetings.

Planning Board Chairman Margen Penick acknowledged that meetings do take place between an applicant and planning and engineering staff with a few members of the board taking part. She said she would think over whether there is a better way of handling these exchanges.

The University had on hand for last week's meeting a full contingent of architects, engineers, faculty members involved in the Center for Human Values, administrators and planners, as well as an attorney and a stenographer. All were kept waiting for more than an hour beyond the time scheduled for the application, 9:30 p.m. In addition, the University had prepared a large model showing the relationship of the proposed addition to Washington Road and the surrounding buildings. Numerous colored renderings of the building and site plans had been prepared as well as a slide presentation.

Preferred Postponement

Mrs. Penick suggested that the Planning Board would be willing to extend its normal located 22 feet from the Washington Road right-of-way, and has a mean height of 53.5 feet.

Mr. McPartland said it was in the University's interests as well to have those buildings rebuilt and rented.

A Million Dogs Will Be Lost This Year!

Everyday reasons to get Invisible Feneing.

Since we started making Invisible Fencing more than ten years ago, our systems have helped save the lives of more than 150,000 dogs.

How Invisible Feneing works.

Through a combination of conditioning and training, your dog learns to stay away from restricted areas. A transmitter sends a harmless radio signal along an antenna wire buried underground. Your dog's receiver collar picks up the warning him to stay within the boundaries you set. And because the system is invisible, neither your view nor the aesthetics of your property are disturbed.

PEOPLE In the News

An article in the June issue of the newsletter of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists highlighted the activities of Mitchell Besser MD, son of Dr. and Mrs. William Besser of Terhune Road, in setting up an out-ofhospital birth center in San Diego, Calif., as a birth alternative that low-income women can afford.

The center opened on June 15 across the street from Mercy Hospital and near the Univer-Sity of California, San Diego, Medical Center where high-risk patients will be referred. Staffed largely by nurse-midwives, the facility anticipates about 100 deliveries a month, which would make it the largest out-anywhere from 30 to 50 percent below the standard delivery and all patients will be enrolled for prenatal care. The alternative, according to Dr. Besser, is that these women wind ed the award in 1971. up in the hospital giving premature birth to at-risk babies because they have had

A graduate of Princeton High School and Williams College, Dr. Besser spent three years in Micronesia after serving his residency at the University of California, San Dicgo, Medical Center. There, he and his wife, Deborah, a nurse who later took a master's degree in public health, became in-terested in the distribution of medical care. Together they trained midwives to care for Micronesian women and to deliver babies.

He has been working for the past two years to develop the Old Mill Road, Pennington, free-standing birth center in San Diego.

Jennifer E. Carchman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Carchman, 4 Howe Circle, has been named to the dean's list at Colorado College.

Dara H. Witonsky, 450 Terhune Road, has had her watercolor, The Secret, chosen to appear on the New Jersey Network television program "State of the Arts."

She will be a senior at Princeton High School.

Theodore C. Chase Jr., Old Georgetown Road, associate professor of biochemistry and microbiology at Rutgers University's Cook College, has received an award for professional excellence for his service as an undergraduate adviser.

The award includes $500 and a commemorative plaque.

Edmund W. Stiles, of Hopewell Township, professor of biological sciences at Rutgers University, has received the Presidential Award for Distinguished Public Service. The annual award honors outstanding achievement by faculty in community, regional, and national service.

Joanna B. Epstein, daughter of Neville and Cookie Epstein, 512 Ewing Street, has been named to the dean's list at Barnard College, Columbia University, for the 1990-91 academic year.

News of the THEATRES

Agatha Christie Mystery At the Showcase Theatre

Mystery, murder and a romance are the major elements in Agatha Christie's classic play, Ten Little Indians which opens a three-weekend run Saturday at Artists Showcase Theatre in Trenton.

Written by the well-known weaver of mystery yarns, Ten

Little Indians charts the story of the house guests at a most unusual weekend party, a party in which murder becomes the uninvited guest. The production features Liz Lawton and Dave Swartz as a couple who find romance amidst the carnage. Wendy Way and Cheryl Doyle, who starred in last season's hit Steel Magnolias, are featured as two prominent guests.

Herb McAneny, founding fa-ther of the Princeton Community Players, appears as General Mackenzie, and Doug Kline, local broadcaster and educator, is featured as Sir Lawrence Wargrave. The other house guests are Rob Lawrence, Jan Applebaum, Rob Giardalas and Jill Scurato.

Ted Hoagland directs the production assisted by Rob Lawrence. Karen McGrath is the stage manager. Ten Little Indians is being produced and designed by Gerry Guarnieri. The show is a production of the Shakespeare '70 company of Trenton.

Performances are Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 through July 27 at Artists Showcase Theater, 1150 Indiana Avenue, off Route 1 in North Trenton. Tickets are $9.50 on Fridays and $10 on Saturdays. Reservations are recommended and may be made by calling 695-1955.

'Carousel' Is Scheduled 💼 At Open Air Theatre

The Princeton Opera Association will present the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, Carousel, in the Open Air Theatre at Washington Crossing State Park July 11 through 13 and 17 through 20.

The cast consists of Mercer, Somerset, Middlesex and Bucks County residents. Barbara Zsenak will portray the leading role of Julie Jordan, partnered by Steve Ryan as Billy Bigelow. Alice Vail and Tom Baker will be seen as Carrie Pipperidge and Enoch Snow. Patricia Bartlett will sing the role of Nettie Fowler, Jigger Craigin will be portrayed by Martin Hargrove, with Jennifer Dite as Louise.

The director is Sue Robbins of Ewing; musical director is Robert Loughran, and choreographer is Judi Lehrhaupt.

Carousel, which contains some of the most beautiful music written by Rodgers and Hammerstein, was originally produced in New York City on April 19, 1945 and ran for 890 performances.

A Clackwark Orange, another audience favorite, further confirmed Stanley Kubrick's status as one of America's most audacious and important film directors. Based on the Anthony Burgess novel, it moves on many levels at once: psy-chological, social, moral and mythical.

The setting is London in the near future where gangs of rov-ing, adolescent Teddy boys rule the night, with plenty of the old "ultra-violence" (this is not a film for the squeamish). Kubrick gives us his icily brilliant vision of a future in which western society has become a mod slum, at once super technologized and squalid, and takes a galvanizing and hyp-notic look at those aspects of modern life that frighten us all.

Veteran Performers Set For Two-Character Play

Cheryl McGinnis and Marty Sherman will perform the roles of Doris and George in Princeton Summer Theater's upcoming production of Bernard Slade's two-character romantic comedy, Same Time, Next Year. The play will be directed by Madeleine deMatteis.

Special Performance

Princeton Public Library will present Creative Theatre in C.S. Lewis's classic tale, The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe, on Wednesday, July 17, at 3:30. Free tickets for the performance, open to children in kindergarten through grade six, may be obtained at the Library or reserved by calling the Children's Department at 924-9529.

Maria Manzano Johnson and David Lightfoot play all of the female and male roles, respectively, in the production, which is directed by Eloise Bruce and designed by Spiritree. Both actors teach in Creative Theatre's education programs as well as perform-

Ms. McGinnis has been seen television in All My Children and Anather World. Her stage credits include three different productions at the New York State Ensemble Theatre. She has studied drama at the Stella Adler Conservatory of Acting, The American Academy of Dramatic Arts, and the Cashman Studio.

Mr. Sherman has appeared in the film Fighting Back for Dino DeLaurentis Productions, as well as in several stage productions in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Same Time, Next Year will be performed at Murray Theater on the Princeton University • campus July 18-21, 25-28, and August 1-3 at 8 p.m. Two Sunday matinees will also be performed July 21 and 28 at 2.

Princetan Summer Theater is a nonprofit community drama group which performs three full-scale productions every summer. Ticket prices for Same Time, Next Year are $12.50 for adults and $10 for students and senior citizens. For information and reservations, call 258-4950.

Shakespeare's 'Macbeth' Set in Amazon Jungle

June Opera Festival's Recital Evening Features Three Soloists Celebrating 'Shakespeare in Song'

The annual recital evening of A particularly nice touch was the voice, with many changes June Opera addience, but the arrangement. evening itself has broadened the scope of the Festival over innovative and imaginative programming.

This season's vocal fare was built around the theme of Shakespeare, and in particular same topic. Her first selections, composed in the late 17th or Princeton composer Peter early 18th century, were ac-Westergaard's opera The Tempest. On this particular Tuesday evening at the Kirby Arts Center, June Opera presented three soloists, and, as Michael Pratt explained in his introductory remarks, a representation of "how composers have responded to the texts of Shakespeare."

Tenor Christopher Hux has performed for June Opera audiences before as a lively and charismatic operatic lead. His song offerings this year were primarily from the Baroque and earlier eras, with a set of Elizabethan selections and several songs by Thomas Arne. The "Elizabethan Pot-Pourri" was presented as a song-cycle, and Mr. Hux very elegantly avoided the temptation of many opera singers when performing Renaissance music to over sing and over dramatize; his selections were performed with restraint and stylish delicacy.

June Opera Festival has grown the use of harpsichord, most over the years from a venue for ably played by William suit the text. Although limited the opera performers to pres- Gokelman. #### "Tempest" Songs the years to include some very Tempest-related songs for her selections - three works by John Weldon on the Tempest theme, and a scene from Peter Westergaard's opera on the companied by a small chamber ensemble and small chorus, who sang refrains.

The first songs seemed a bit low in register for a singer whose voice one wants to hear soar, but Ms. Elliott had ample opportunity to show off her sparkling upper register later in the program. The second selection, Full Fothom Five, displayed the nice ensemble connection among the conductorless instrumentalists, and the third song, Dry Those Eyes, was sung with a stylistically accurate vibratoless tone at times and with wellmaneuvered melismas.

The scene from Dr. Westergaard's opera The Tempest, performed by Ms. Elliott and baritone James Demler, was scored for this performance for piano, clarinet, and cello, and was conducted by Michael Pratt. The music is high in the register of all instruments, including assistance of Nagle Jackson in directing this segment helped bring to life an isolated moment from the full opera.

Mr. Demler, who had already demonstrated a wide dramatic range in his performance earlier in the program of Gerald Finzi's Let Us Gorlonds Bring, commanded both the scene and the music as a character full of disdain. Both of these soloists were adept at the angular and at times impressionistic style of music, and instrumentalists Karl Herman, Mark Stewart, and William Gokelman all had the score well in hand.

The soloists closed this recital evening with selections from the 18th and 19th centuries, ranging from the basic, strophic music of Schubert (Who Is Sylvio?) to what was possibly the best individual song on the program — Rossini's The Willow Song, gracefully performed by Ms. 1 Elliott.

Robert Schumann's When I Wos o Little Boy, was dramatically exciting when sung with Romantic flair by Mr. Demler. Like the "Elizabethan Pot-Pourri" heard earlier in the evening, this "Classical and Romantic Pot-Pourri" alternated selections among the singers, and created the feeling in the audience that one had heard three equally talented singers all well-suited to their chosen repertoire.

Ice Cream Social

A relaxed summer evening featuring all-you-caneat ice cream sundaes and old-time band music performed by the Blawenburg Band is on the agenda for the Sourland Council's fourth annual ice cream social on July 28. The event will run from 6 to 8:30 p.m. at the Hillsborough Country Club, Wertsville Road, just west of Montgomery Road in Hillsborough Township.

The event will be outdoors. If it rains, it will be held under a large tent. Seating is limited, so persons are encouraged to bring blankets or lawn chairs.

The fee is $3 for adult members of the Sourland Council, $4 for adult nonmembers, and $2 for children ages 6 to 12. Children under age 5 will be admitted free. All proceeds will benefit the council in its work to protect the environment of the Sourland Mountain re-

The Sourland Regional Citizens Planning Council was organized as a not-forprofit group in the spring of 1986 to ensure comprehensive planning, conservation, preservation of open space and protection of natural and historic resources of the mountain area without regard to arbitrary political boundaries. The area spans three counties, Somerset, Mercer and Hunterdon, and four townships, Hopewell, East Amwell, Montgomery, and Hillsborough.

For more information, call 466-0312 or 466-4341.

Socko Start Is Scored By Area Babe Ruth Team

Although it has been playing together as a team for only a month, the Princeton-Montgomery team scored an upset last week when it defeated Trenton, 4-2, in the opening round of the 15-and-under South Jersey District 1 Babe Ruth Tournament.

Eight teams from Mercer County are vying for the District 1 title in the tourney which concludes Friday and is being held at the Mike Pez-zicola Field on Eggerts Crossing Road in Lawrence Township. They are Ewing, Hamilton Nationals, Hopewell, Law-rence, Trenton, West Wind-sor-Plainsboro and Princeton-hosting the state tournament and has received an automatic bid to the next round. The teams are comprised of 14- and 15-year-olds.

Princeton-Montgomery scored a run in each of the first three innings, taking advan-tage of some early wildness by Trenton pitcher Milton Tull, Tull, who allowed just three hits, walked three in the first and sent the game's first run across with a wild pitch. In the second inning, an infield error and three more wild pitches increased P-M's lead to 2-0.

After Trenton had cut the margin to 2-1 in the third on a single, bunt, wild pitch and another single, Princeton-Montgomery came right back to score the winning run on a double by Brian Mauney and a pair of wild pitches. Mauney's double was his first of two. The victors added an insurance run

M-P Edges Lawrence, 5-4

Like the battery commercial on TV, Princeton-Montgomery is still going.

On Monday, it edged Lawrence, 5-4, in extra innings. With its second win, the newest entrant in the District One tournament is now one game away from the championship round in the double elimination event. The team will play again this Wednesday evening at 8:30 when it will play either defending champion Hamilton Nationals or Ewing.

Against Lawrence, with the score tied at 4, P-M scored the winning run in the eighth inning. Jamie Guest stroked a leadoff single and was replac-ed by pinch-runner Richard Bliss. Bliss came around on singles by Mark Lesh and Landon Pollack.

Search Is Continuing For a Hockey Coach

The search for a new hockey coach at Princeton University continues.

Athletic Director Bob Myslik reported earlier this week that interviews with a bunch of candidates (he declined to release any names) to replace Jim Higgins, who resigned under pressure last month, are being held this week. Myslik is hopeful that these could be completed by Friday, but indicated that the process could take longer if second interviews become necessary. However, there is a chance a decision could be reached by sometime next Helping Myslik with the selection process is a search committee which includes people from all areas of the University. These include Professor Alan Kornhauser, Admissions Director Fred Hargadon, Gina Book, from the University's Human Resources Department; Wally McDonough, a former Tiger goalie and member of the class of 1984; Jeff Kampersal, one of next year's co-captains; Bob Bradley, men's soccer coach; and Amy Campbell and Eric Stein, associate directors of athletics.

Post 76 Stops Ewing For 9-7 Legion Mark

Princeton Post 76 scored in just one inning in Saturday's game with Ewing Post 314 at Mercer Park. One inning was all it needed.

Held scoreless until the eighth by Ewing pitcher Rich Timlen, Post 76 sent ten batters to the plate during a six-run rally that erased a 4-0 Ewing lead. Post 76's final 6-4 triumph was its ninth in 16 games and leaves Jerry Price's club solidly in the hunt for a playoff berth.

In a game that manager Bob Smyth said, 'had all the elements,' Steve Ficarro's Auto Body last week defeated Grove Plumbing, 3-1, in eight innings to end the loser's unbeaten streak at 18 games.

The win was Ficarro's ninth in a row, 12th in its last 13, and strengthened its second-place position in the Women's Soft-ball League. Some outstanding defensive plays by the four Ficarro's outfielders and the steady pitching of winning pitcher Carol Ann Mazzella, who scattered nine hits and zella pitched out of the jam. limited Grove's top four hitters to a 4-for-14 performance, paved the way to Ficarro's most satisfying win of the season. in the fifth on two hits and a Ficarro error.

One Pitcher Per Inning: Mercer All-Stars Lose

Talk about pitching depth.

Dave Gerard, manager of the Lower Bucks County Legion All-Star team hurled nine pitchers against the Mercer County All-Stars — one per inning — in the annual Mercer-Bucks

The parade of pitchers fanned 13 Mercer batters, including nine of the last 12, to lead the Bucks team to an 11-5 victory at Ewing's Moody Park. The winners pecked away at the host team, scoring in every inning but one. The biggest of Mercer's six hits was a two-run homer by Hamilton Post 31's Jim Hodge in the fifth inning when Mercer scored three of its ning Board meeting and 20 at Township Committee, including some who had not spoken before.

They talked of the beauty and fragility of the diabase ridge in general and Autumn Hill Reservation in particular. They spoke of the greater costs in blasting through part of the ridge, of the noise and air pollution from trucks attempting to climb the steeper grade involved in the border alignment. They said the highway would be a disaster for the residents of Montgomery Woods and for those on the ridge.

The Montgomery residents expressed annoyance at their Township for not informing them. Princeton residents who are members of the South Ridge Association opposed to the Elizabethtown Water Company underground water storage reservoirs wrote a letter in support of residents at the north end of the ridge.

Now and again someone got up to speak of the need for the bypass. Burr Fischer told Committee that without the bypass, Harrison Street, Herrontown Road, even Terhune Road become the links between Route 206 and Route 27. Arch Davis, chairman of the Borough Transportation Committee said it would be "tragic for the region" if the bypass was not built.

Tina McKinney of Ewing Street urged Committee to think about people. She said she sympathized with those who don't want the highway in their backyard but she too did not want Harrison Street to be a four-lane highway. Nonetheless, "there needs to be an S-92," Ms. McKinney said. "The municipalities have got to come to an agreement and something has to be done.'

Bypass Superfund Site

In addition to supporting a modified Scheme 6 alignment (the modification is a mlnibypass around a multi-acre former waste disposal site off Route 27 in Kingston that is a designated superfund toxic waste site), the Planning Board's resolution made several other points. It said that the design concept for the alternative be modified to include such features as adequate access points to serve local and outside traffic needs and that the roadway should be located on the "most environmentally appropriate alignment.'

It also called for "additional For Tennis Tournaments small size traffic corridors to be identified and built, so that the majority of the traffic is not funneled through a single corridor." It recommended that the NJDOT "proceed with appropriate studies to determine the environmental, engineering and financial feasibility of a modification of Scheme 6.'

Toward the end of a meeting that lasted four hours on Monday night, Township Commit- and over rating and a "B" Divitee fashioned a resolution which was to incorporate several points made by the Princeton and Montgomery residents. The first was that a bypass is needed. The next was that modified Scheme 6 would be strongly preferred.

A third was that the alignment issue should not be viewed as a border dispute between Montgomery and Princeton and that the two municipalities wish to cooperate. Fourth, a wetland study should be undertaken to see whether the NEED AN EARLY COPY of TOWN wetlands in Scheme 6 are as ex. TOPICS? You can buy one at our of wetlands in Scheme 6 are as extensive as the DOT feared when it abandoned the Princeton Bypass. Federal laws call for "mitigating" disturbance of wetlands by identifying, preserving or creating other wetlands in a ratio of two to 1, which would be very expensive if extensive areas are involved.

Princeton Township's resolution also calls for a continued effort to find a suitable route for Route 92 if Scheme 6 is not accepted. "I will not leave Princeton without a bypass, Committeeman Ellen Souter stated, even if that means endorsing the Scheme 2 alignment that the residents were so vociferously opposing. She was booed for her statement.

The eight mayors met again on Tuesday morning. According to Ms. Brake, they took no stand on Scheme 2 or Scheme 6 but agreed to convene a small group of county engineers and DOT engineers to look at the environmental factors. "Both are acceptable to be tested," Ms. Brake said, "and the environmental winner will be the accepted alignment."

Montgomery Meeting

Meanwhile Montgomery Township planned to hold a public hearing on the highway issue this Wednesday at 7:30 in the municipal building. According to Township Committeeman Robert Kress, who has long experience with Montgomery's highway policy and actions, Scheme 2 or 6, a southern or a northern alignment, are not the real issue.

The real issue for Montgomery, Mr. Kress says, is getting the DOT to make some decisions on the whole issue of four-laning Route 206 as well as on certain improvements to the intersections to improve safety.

Montgomery has sued the DOT to try to get it to modify its plans for dualizing Route 206 with a concrete median from the Somerville Circle to the Princeton Airport.

Mr. Kress points out that if the DOT proceeds with its plans to four-lane Route 206, the twolane alternative road will not be able to function as such and will have to be widened to four lanes. He wants a decision from the DOT on Route 206 before committing to the Route 206-Route 27 link.

New Day Care Center At Plainsboro Church

A meeting will be held on Tuesday, July 16 at 7:30 for all parents interested in learning more about Plainsboro Presbyterian Child Care, a new daycare center which will begin operation in September. The meeting will be held in the First Presbyterian Church of Plainsboro, 500 Plainsboro Road.

During the meeting, parents will learn about the improvements that are being made to the facility to accommodate the children. They will also have the opportunity to meet the director of Plainsboro Presbyterian Child Care, Ilene Davidson, and members of its administrative board.

Plainsboro Presbyterian Child Care will provide an affordable, high quality education in a Christian environment of love, acceptance, and sup-port for children and their parents. Children of every race, religion and national origin are welcome. The religious beliefs and traditions of all children and their parents will be respected.

The program will provide full-time care for children 2½ to 6 years of age, including after school care for kindergarten students. Enrollment will be limited to 50 students. Additional information may be obtained by calling 799-0855.

What is so rare as — an enchanting stone Cotswold cottage reminiscent of the English countryside! Fortunately, one can be found in a flowering garden in the historic village of Lawrenceville. Handsome panelling graces the living room with a fireplace and door to terrace, and the spacious dining room. The kitchen is sparkling white with accents of blue. Upstairs — a wide hall, the master bedroom with adjoining study, two delightful dormered bedrooms and tiled bath. On the lower level, a panelled room with fireplace. A secluded rear yard is bordered by a picturesque brook. You'll love it!
